

Ian Anderson

Ian graduated from John Abbott College at the beginning of the new millennium and continued his education at Queen's University with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Studies. He was honoured as a Chancellor's Scholar at Queen's. He furthered his studies with a Master's degree in Public and International Affairs at the University of Ottawa.

JOHN ABBOTT

- Writer for the John Abbott student newspaper, Bandersnatch;
- Vice-President of the Student Union of John Abbott College (SUJAC);
- Participated as mentor for fellow students.

LIFE AFTER JOHN ABBOTT

- Recipient, Action Canada Fellowship, 2013-2014;
- Named Global Shaper by the World Economic Forum, 2013;
- Member, United Nations Department of Peacekeeping Operations civilian experts roster;
- National Security Analyst for Public Safety Canada;
- Program Manager and co-founder of Peace Geeks Remote Internships Program;
- Fellow, United Nations Alliance of Civilizations;
- Aga Khan Foundation Fellow in Kulob, Tajikistan, 2009-2010;
- Development Officer, Canadian International Development Agency, Kandahar, Afghanistan, 2010-2011;
- Political Assistant, Parliament of Canada;
- Research Assistant, University of Ottawa;
- Mission Leadership Québec – Elections observer in Guatemala;
- Served in a similar capacity with CANADEM in Ukraine.
- Office of Canada, Counsellor / Head of Political Section, Representative of Office of Canada to the Palestinian Authority
- Global Affairs Canada, Senior advisor

Such a successful academic and professional career requires some play time and Ian took it to the limit. He was a part of a four member rally team that travelled 16 000 km from London, England to the Mongolia capital of Ulaanbaatar. The reason for such an adventure – because he could, and to raise funds for charity.

Ian graduated from John Abbott College (Social Science) in 2002.